DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 12, 17-18, 42, 44-49, 59-60, and 62-66 are drawn to the bearing, classified in class 384, subclass 12.
- II. Claims 51-52, drawn to the bearing pad, classified in class 384, subclass 305.
- III. Claims 36-37 and 67-68, drawn to the carriage, classified in class 74, subclass 89.32.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Invention I with respect to claims II and III, are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require adjacent pocket groove enclosing therein a first planar area constructed and arranged to resist a flow; a second planar area between a compensating groove and a pocket groove; a supply groove proximate a compensating groove and said grooves being separated by a third planar area; that the carriage is mounted to route the fluid back towards the pressurized source; structure of a resistive land; or that the sealing structure is arranged to seal ends of said bearing carriage and said side portions being constructed and arranged to extend along at least a portion of sides of said bearing carriage to seal said sides, said end portion including a double-lipped seal, a first lip of the double-lipped seal engaging the structure on which said bearing carriage is mounted for movement and a second lip of said double-lipped seal preventing debris from entering said carriage. The subcombinations have separate utilities such as carriages for turrets or as pads for rotary/axial motor thrust bearings.

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, subcombination of the bearing pad has separate utility such as a pad for a rotary motor thrust bearing. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Submission of your response by facsimile transmission is encouraged. Group 3600's facsimile number is (571) 273-8300. Recognizing the fact that reducing cycle time in the processing and examination of patent applications will effectively increase a patent's term, it is to your benefit to submit responses by facsimile transmission whenever permissible. Such submission will place the response directly in our examining group's hands and will eliminate Post Office processing and delivery time as well as the PTO's mail room processing and delivery time. For a complete list of correspondence not permitted by facsimile transmission, see MEP. 502.01. In general, most responses and/or amendments not requiring a fee, as well as those requiring a fee but charging such fee to a deposit account, can be submitted by facsimile transmission. Responses requiring a fee which applicant is paying by check should not be submitting by facsimile transmission separately from the check.

Art Unit: 3682

Responses submitted by facsimile transmission should include a Certificate of Transmission (MEP. 512). The following is an example of the format the certification might take:

I hereby certify that this correspondence is being facsimile transmitted to the Patent and Trademark Office (Fax No. (703) 872-9306) on _____

Typed or printed name of person signing this certificate:

(Signature)

If your response is submitted by facsimile transmission, you are hereby reminded that the original should be retained as evidence of authenticity (37 CFR 1.4 and MEP. 502.02). Please do not separately mail the original or another copy unless required by the Patent and Trademark Office. Submission of the original response or a follow-up copy of the response after your response has been transmitted by facsimile will only cause further unnecessary delays in the processing of your application; duplicate responses where fees are charged to a deposit account may result in those fees being charged twice.

Art Unit: 3682
